

National Elementary Honor Society Capps Middle School By Kathy Vosburgh

For the first time ever at Capps Middle School, 13 students were inducted into the nationwide program, National Elementary Honor Society. NEHS is well-respected and speaks to a student's academic success, community involvement, leadership skills, and overall high character. Calling attention to these admirable characteristics will help to promote the values of scholarship, service, leadership, character and citizenship within a school. Their example becomes a powerful motivator for all students to excel. Sixth grade teacher, Michele Bove, deserves our thanks for instituting this worthwhile program at Capps Middle School; that will encourage all the students towards excellence in every area of their lives.

4th graders: Robbie Rutherford, Kinsey Turley, Emmie Rose, Ayden Perguson, Brighton Crandell

5th graders: Trey Despain, Cole Tomerlin, Torrey Klein, Mya Stephens, Ruby Crandell

6th graders: Luke Killian and Katelyn Bryce
(Not Pictured Heidi Porter)

Michele Bove

The program was held in the PAC on January 19th and began with the pledge led by Brighton Crandell. Carter Weber and Johnny Roznivak, members of MHS Honor Society helped these younger students by explaining the 'Pillars' of scholarship, service, leadership, character and citizenship; lighting a candle to represent each one. As every student was recognized, they came onstage and received their certificate from Capps Principal, Jim Maner.

Maner and Torrey

Mr. Maner and Robbie

The first members of the National Elementary Honor Society at Capps Middle School, January 19, 2022. Ms. Bove had each inductee place their hand on their hearts to repeat these meaningful words of promise:

"As a member of the National Elementary Honor Society I pledge to:
Be a strong student, achieving the most from my education; d
Demonstrate responsibility, showing enthusiasm and working hard in all that I do;
Learn the skills of leadership, practicing them in all aspects of my life;
Be of service to my school and community, showing that I care; and
Be a role model for my peers, helping us all achieve our best."

Back Row: Ms. Bove, Luke Killian, Katelyn Bryce, Mya Stephens, Torrey Klein, Trey Despain, Ruby Crandell, Brighton Crandell, Emmie Rose, Mr. Maner (Missing because of illness - Heidi Porter)
Front Row: Cole Tomerlin, Kinsey Turley, Robbie Rutherford, Ayden Perguson